About Skyler Reed

Red A lady of sophistication and musicianship, Skyler Reed, was born a singer. She is a classically trained R&B/Soul artist based in ATL. Her heart desires to perform, and the stage has become her home. Since her time in ATL, she has established her music lessons business, Skyler's Music Studio, LLC, and has performed frequently around the city. She hopes to inspire and uplift through the words and melodies of her songs.

Skyler grew up surrounded by music. During early childhood, her mother, who had the gift of singing, made music an integral part of her life. She introduced her to the greats such as Whitney Houston, Luther Vandross, and Lauren Hill. Skyler loved the music of Aaliyah, Destiny's Child, and Brandy. Although Skyler's mother is no longer here, she definitely was her inspiration to pursue music. Songwriting has always been a form of therapy and self-expression since Skyler was 12. She was a big dreamer and a curious girl with an immense aspiration of sharing art.

After four years of studying vocal performance at Virginia State University, she received a Bachelor of Music Degree. She took heart in the value of being classically trained, while still staying true to her own music. Shortly after graduating, she moved to Los Angeles to pursue her career and made great strides. There, she performed in several operas and then found herself as an artist. She has released three studio projects, "I Keep Dreamin...", "Movement of a Sunflower," and "Descended Crowns."
